Gordon Wyatt and David Freeman, designers of the renowned Fisher Class of motor sailers, have excelled themselves with the Cromarty 36. She is an exceptionally strong, superbly finished three-cabin, six berth cruising masterpiece.

Emphasis throughout the yacht has been placed on space, function, light and comfort.

The Cromarty 36 has an easy to sail ketch rig. Wide side decks with low bulwarks, robust stanchions and the split rig with manageable sail areas, enable alterations to be made to the sail plan with consummate ease and safety. Add a furling system and sailing the Cromarty 36 short-handed becomes simplicity itself. Whether steered from above or below deck, she is well balanced and responsive making sailing a delight whatever the weather. Add some sail and the Cromarty 36 comes into her element.

Once in harbour the three bladed propeller and 2.4:1 reduction and reverse gearbox make manoeuvring into the tightest berth easy.

Two sumptuous double cabins each with en-suite WC and shower compartment; a luxurious raised deck saloon with panoramic views and comfortable settees a spacious dining table seating six and a gourmet galley with double sink, fridge and gas cooker.

Combined, these all add up to the comfort and convenience of your very own home away from home.
